Australian Playback Conference

Sydney, 8-12 September 2010

When Land meets Sea

Australia is a vast island where the land and sea meet in an unlimited variety of ways ...lapping in quiet and gentle coves, spraying against massive cliffs, filling deep harbours, exploding onto beaches ...

In the same way the numerous playback companies and practitioners meet with the Playback Theatre form.

We are eager to explore the ways in which we in Australia experience and practice Playback.

In what ways do we meet and diverge in our practice?

What about company life: what's alive in your company, what's new, what works and what doesn't?

What projects have you worked on? Which shows have been excellent and which terrible, and what are you learning?

What is the future of Playback here in Australia and in your company?

Is there a unique Australian playback aesthetic?

It's time to cross this huge land of ours and meet together to gather strength and inspiration from each other's Playback experience.

Let's stand together and look over the sea to the horizon, and speak what we see, feel and dream...

The conference will held where else but by the sea! Minutes walk from the beach in an idyllic bush setting.

The Program will be structured using the flexibility of Open Space Technology We've chosen Open Space because of the parallels to what we feel are Playback Theatre values: allowing everyone a voice, reaching out to the expertise within us all, and validation of everyone's life experience.
